a letter from our CRO

Welcome,

First — thank you for being here.

Taking a few days away from your teams and your priorities isn't small, and we genuinely appreciate you making the time to join us. We've been looking forward to this.

Over the next few days, you'll hear where we believe virtual care and whole-person health are heading — and more importantly, we want to hear from you. What's working? What's missing? Where are you feeling friction inside your own organizations? The conversations we have here will directly shape how we think about our roadmap and how we continue building Revive.

We don't see you as attendees. We see you as partners. The kind of partners who push us to be sharper, smarter, and more useful in the real world.

Yes, we're going to dig into strategy. We'll talk innovation across pharmacy offerings and weight health, and what it truly means to support performance through health. However, we're also going to enjoy this time together!

There's something powerful about stepping away from the day-to-day to think bigger. To exchange ideas without rushing to the next meeting. To have real conversations — maybe over dinner, maybe in the sun — about what healthcare should look like for the next generation of employees.

We hope you leave with fresh perspectives, new relationships, and a clear sense that what we're building together actually matters.

We're grateful you're here. We're excited to learn alongside you. And yes — we plan to have some fun while we do it.

Let's get started.

Adam Knox
Chief Revenue Officer Revive

we want to hear from you

This isn't just our summit—it's yours too.

We've brought together a small circle of visionary partners not just to share our roadmap, but to shape what comes next. Your insights are invaluable, and your feedback will directly influence how we evolve, refine, and grow.

As we go through our time together,
we ask that you keep these questions in mind:

Where do you see the biggest opportunities for your clients over the next 12–24 months?

What barriers to access,
engagement, or impact do
you want us to help break down?

Which of our services could unlock the most value for your clients or teams right now?

Access in healthcare is an illusion. People expect instant connectivity, so every benefit plan offers a remote care option. But online care itself can't fix that it's too complex, unaffordable, and impersonal for people to get the care they need. Employers with self-funded plans feel this most acutely; their healthcare spending is at an all-time high, but their people are paying more for less. They invest heavily in benefits to keep employees healthy and engaged. What they get for their money is a collection of wasted point solutions whose promise of savings never materializes. Costs go up. Employees suffer. Benefits become a burden as companies resign themselves to increased costs and employees accept crappy care.

Benefits decision-makers are caught between the C-suite's demands for lower costs and delivering the benefits that employees need. Each renewal brings higher costs and a slew of new vendors who promise savings, engagement, and employee satisfaction. Unused care creates no value, but without a simpler path, benefits leaders are caught in an endless cycle; they add point solutions to their plan each year, but ROI calculators fail to account for the reality that most employees do not use them.

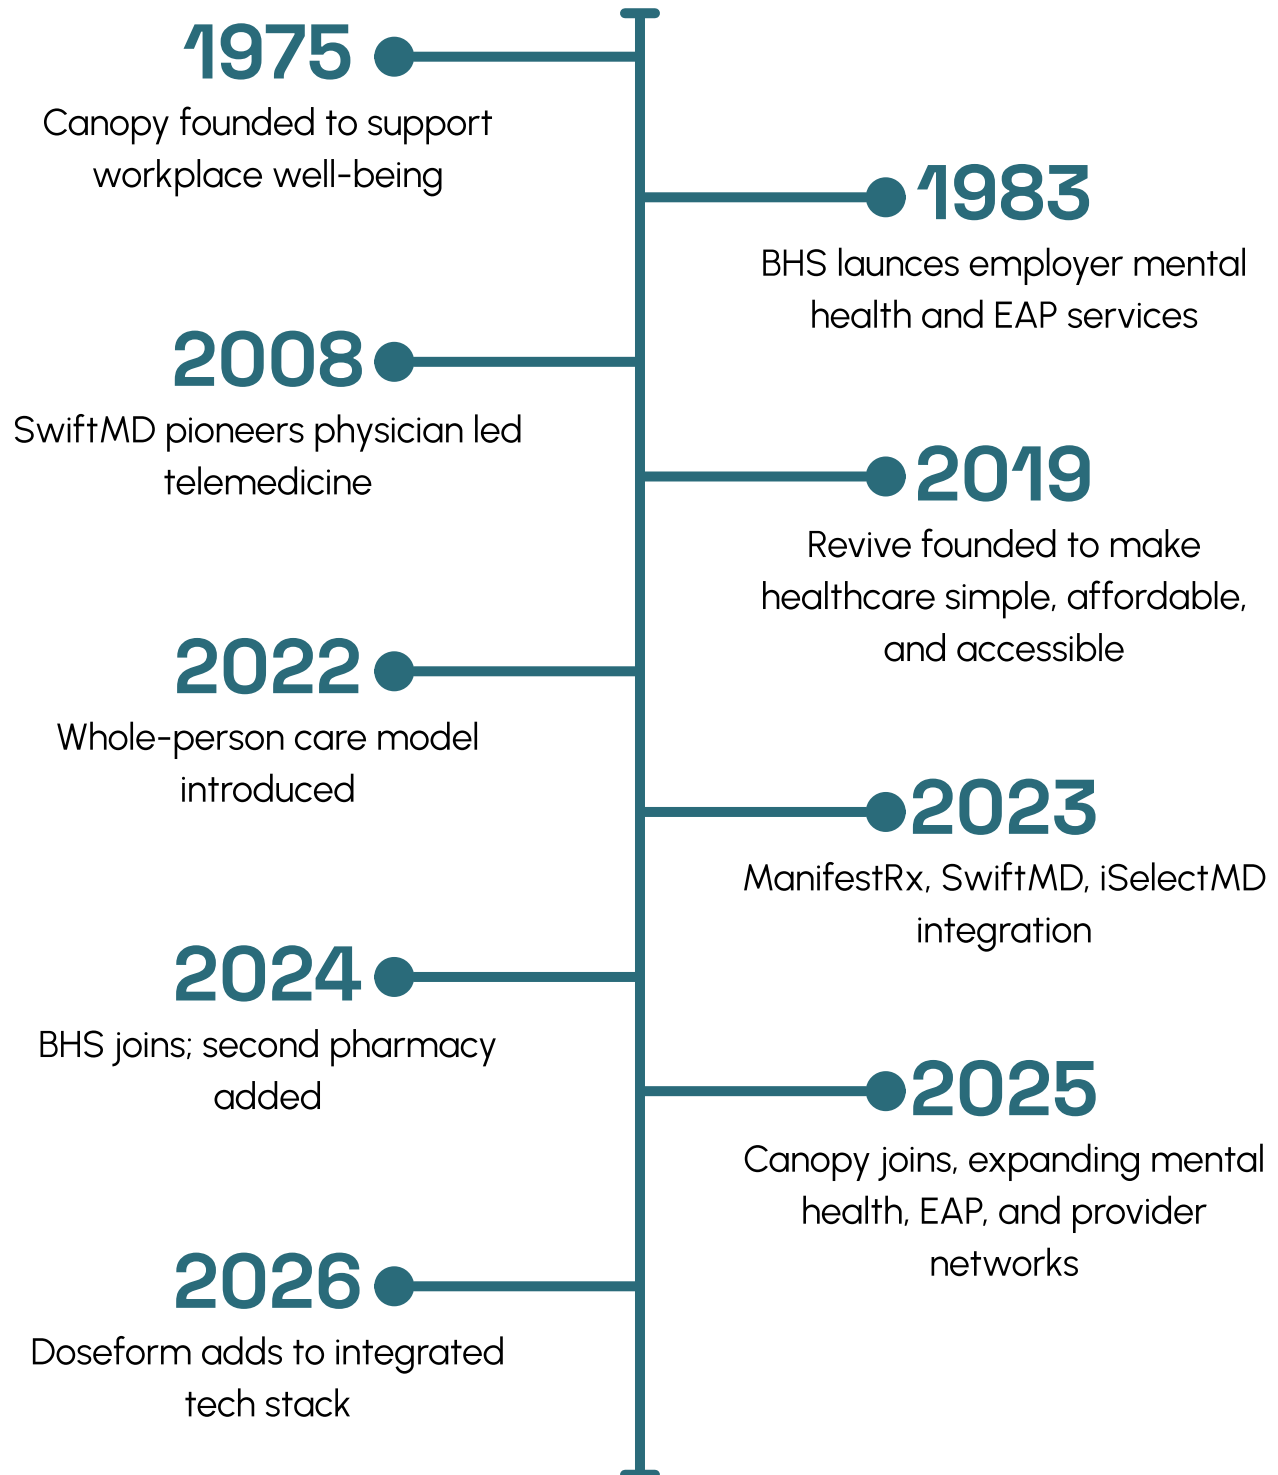

Revive Health provides people with instant access to the doctors, counselors, and pharmacists they want to see repeatedly. Their founder experienced the healthcare system's failure personally, struggling to navigate the system after his child's cancer diagnosis. He built a new system that centralized the care people need every day: over 80 percent of a person's healthcare needs, at their fingertips and always on. Revive has scaled alongside a group of brokers and partners who understand high utilization is the path to cost containment, bringing Revive's solutions directly to thousands of organizations and millions of members across the country.

The best benefit plan is the one that employees want to use.

Revive is America's only Care Model that provides always affordable, always available, always awesome care. Designed to be the first place people go for health concerns, Revive connects members with a care team they get to know in primary care, urgent care, pharmacy, mental health, and everyday assistance. Revive creates a front door to care, built around their proprietary network of doctors, consistent relationships, and coordinated follow-through. Quality, accessible care at no cost motivates employees to use it, and as Revive utilization rises, HR watches costly ER and drug claims drop, driving retention, improving member health, and reducing plan spending. When employees want to use their healthcare, everything changes for the better. With Revive, benefits decision-makers finally see the outcome that's eluded them: greater retention, healthier and happier employees, and a strong cost-savings to employee-impact ratio. Employees seek out Revive to connect with their care team, get prescriptions, and realize the potential of healthcare as an everyday resource that works for the people it is meant to serve.

industry landscape

Healthcare costs continue to rise at an unsustainable pace, placing increasing strain on employers, employees, and health plans. At the same time, access challenges and affordability concerns are driving delayed care, poorer outcomes, and reduced workforce productivity.

Employers are being asked to control costs while improving experience and retention. Members expect faster access, more personalization, and seamless digital experiences. Traditional models are struggling to meet both demands.

What the Data Signals

projected cost increase

Employers must control rising spend while maintaining quality and access.

~75%

of employees value benefits over salary increases

Healthcare benefits are now a primary driver of retention.

52%

growth in per person healthcare spend by 2032

Long term cost pressure is accelerating.

36%

of Americans skip or delay care due to cost

Avoided care drives worse outcomes and higher downstream expenses.

The market is shifting away from fragmented, point solutions and toward integrated, whole person care models that bring together medical access, behavioral health support, pharmacy optimization, and digital navigation into a single coordinated experience. Employers are no longer seeking isolated services. They are prioritizing connected systems that improve outcomes, control costs, and strengthen employee retention through a more seamless and comprehensive approach to care.
